Equal Opportunities and Inclusiveness – A practical guide to student admissions and student support

Hong Kong Baptist University is committed to delivering the best student experience by emphasizing integrity, creativity, communication, employability and commitment to the common good of humankind, to be achieved by, inter alia, inclusive admissions for diversity. The University is conscientious about providing equal and universal access, wherever reasonably practicable, to all University facilities and services. The University strives to provide reasonable accommodation to students with special educational needs (SEN) and ethnic minority students.

This document, summarizing relevant guidelines and practices, serves as a practical guide to student admissions and student support.

1. Student Admissions

- 1.1 The University provides equal opportunities to all students, who are admitted based on motivation and capacity to benefit from the course of study they intend to follow.

(Policy Statement on Equal Opportunities (the Policy) <https://bu-eoc.hkbu.edu.hk/policies-and-procedures/policy-statement-on-equal-opportunity/>)

- 1.2 The University adopts an inclusive admission policy which enables all deserving students to receive education at HKBU, cultivate values of embracing diversity among students and prepare students to collaborate with people of diverse backgrounds. It continues to:

- i. provide diverse subjects and learning modes to suit students of different needs, aptitudes and aspirations; and
- ii. enable equal access to educational opportunities, regardless of family background, gender, place of origin, ethnicity, disability, age or faith heritage in our admission and student support policies.

(Learning and Teaching Strategy (September 2021): Area 4 - Inclusive Admission for Diversity https://ar.hkbu.edu.hk/f/upload/4182/Learning_and_Teaching_Strategy.pdf)

- 1.3 Special Admissions Schemes
The University has launched different special admission schemes for applicants of different talents and achievements.

School Nominations Direct Admission Scheme (SNDAS)

To give due recognition to applicants who have contributed to social services or made outstanding achievements in non-academic areas or who have demonstrated leadership abilities.

HKBU Talented Athletes Direct Admission Scheme (TADAS)

For local talented athletes who wish to achieve their full potentials in both sports and academic pursuit.

HKBU Students with Exceptional Talent Direct Admission Scheme (SETDAS)

To recognize exceptional talents in different areas e.g., sports, music, cultural activities, creativity, leadership and others.

1.4 Admissions of applicants with disabilities/ SEN

For undergraduate students, applicants with a disability may indicate the nature of their disability on the application forms, and upload supporting documents together with their applications to JUPAS Office before the stipulated deadline, for consideration by the University (for details, please visit the JUPAS website).

(<https://admissions.hkbu.edu.hk/en/hkdse.html>)

For postgraduate students, applicants with a disability may indicate the nature of their disability in the online application.

For students of other study programmes, applicants with SEN can contact relevant departments for related admission details.

The University reviews these applications on an equal basis with other applications.

2. SEN Service Registration

Students with SEN are highly encouraged to self-report their SEN to the university after their admission to allow timely arrangement of necessary support services. Details of the registration procedures can be found in the link below.
